

Financial Planning Resources Available to MN Poultry Producers

As Minnesota responds to the devastating Highly Pathogenic Avian Influenza outbreak, poultry producers have resources available for their needs.

Minnesota poultry producers have planning resources available to them during this difficult time. A team of experienced financial planners can assist producers as they begin on the path of recovery. The focus of the team will be to work with producers on the next steps for their operation – including cash flow projection development, capital planning needs, and long range planning and goal setting for the operation. The team includes farm financial planners with University of Minnesota Extension; Adult Farm Business Management program of Minnesota State Colleges and Universities (MnSCU), and Minnesota Department of Agriculture’s Farmer Assistance Network (MFAN). Contact information is below for each of these programs.

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA
EXTENSION

Ag Business Management, U of MN Extension
Pauline Van Nurden, Extension Educator
320-589-1711 or pvannurd@umn.edu
www.extension.umn.edu/agriculture/business/

Minnesota Farmer Assistance Network, MN Dept. of Ag
Kevin Plante, Coordinator
1-877-898-MFAN (6326) or mfan.mda@state.mn.us
www.mda.state.mn.us/mfan

Minnesota
STATE COLLEGES
& UNIVERSITIES

Farm Business Management Education, MnSCU
www.fbm.mnscu.edu

Northern MN Contact:
Keith Olander, Director of AgCentric,
218-894-5163 or kolander@clcmn.edu

Southern MN Contact:
Brad Schloesser, Dean of Southern MN
Center for Agriculture 507-389-7263 or
brad.schloesser@southcentral.edu

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA
EXTENSION