

Beef Home Study Course for 2007-08 Cow/Calf Health Management

The University of Minnesota Beef Team is proud to present the 2007-08 Beef Home Study Course focusing on Cow/Calf Health Management. This home study course assists beef producers in furthering their knowledge of topics that may benefit the management of their beef operation. There will be six lessons included with this year's home study course:

- Common Breeding Herd Diseases
Bethany Lovaas, U of M Beef Team
- Internal and External Parasite Control
John Rodgers, Pfizer Animal Health
- Antibiotic Use, Biosecurity, and Quality Assurance
Lori Schott and John Shutske, U of M Beef Team
- Herd Health Calendars
Ryon Walker, U of M Beef Team
- Newborn Calf Care
David Smith, University of Nebraska
- Preparing Calves for Weaning
Grant Crawford, U of M Beef Team

The cost to participate in this program is $50. A course booklet with lessons and supporting material is included with the registration fee. Members of the U of M Beef Team are available throughout the course to assist participants and answer questions about the course material. Registration is due by December 15, and the first lesson will be mailed to participants in early January, with a new lesson being delivered approximately every two weeks. For more information, please contact Grant Crawford at 320.234.0441 or craw0105@umn.edu, or Lori Schott at 320.225.5055 or weddl002@umn.edu, or visit the beef team website at www.extension.umn.edu/beef.
