Mission

Reduce recidivism by promoting offender change through proven strategies during a safe and secure incarceration and effective community supervision.

County Jail vs. State Prison

- Local Confinement is a term of incarceration of up to one year served in a local facility (county jail) and maybe pronounced by the court as a condition of probation.
- Commitment to the Department of Corrections- sentences that are a year and a day or more.
Term of Imprisonment

• For offenders committed to the Commissioner of Corrections for crimes committed on or after August 1st, 1993 the term of incarceration is equal to two-thirds of the executed sentence.
• The “supervised release term” is a period of mandatory community supervision, which is served following the end of the term of imprisonment, and is equal to one-third of the executed sentence less any disciplinary confinement period.
• Example: offender sentenced to ten years will serve seven in prison, and three on supervised release in the community.
• Violations of Supervised Release can result in returning to a prison for a period of incarceration up until the expiration of sentence.
