

Who Gets Grandma's Yellow Pie Plate?TM

Resources to Help You Pass on Personal Possessions

Passing on personal possessions is an issue for everyone!

- Owners of personal property
- Family members including:
 - Spouses
 - Adult children
 - Siblings
 - Grandchildren
- Personal representatives (estate executors)
- Professionals involved in:
 - Estate planning and probate
 - Downsizing and household moves
 - Assisted living and nursing homes
 - Estate sale and auctions
 - Faith-based communities
 - Funeral homes

Who Gets Grandma's Yellow Pie Plate?TM resources can help!

Whether planning ahead or making decisions when someone dies, Who Gets Grandma's Yellow Pie Plate?TM resources will help families:

- Understand sensitivity of the issues
- Determine what they want to accomplish
- Decide what's "fair" for their family
- Understand belongings have different meanings to different individuals
- Consider distribution options and consequences
- Agree to manage conflicts if they arise

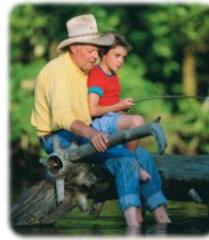

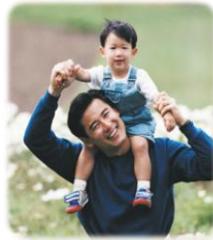

What People Are Saying

"I found this information extremely helpful because in July we were faced with disposing/dividing up my mother-in-law's possessions."

"In the last months of her life, my mother and I poured over Who Gets Grandma's Yellow Pie Plate?™ We made lists, laughed at items that were ridiculous to call valuable, and made decisions that have made our lives a joy at this time. Use this book. It can make something that could be hard into a marvelous gift for your family."

"As executor for my mother's estate, I needed help. I never expected my sisters to act the way they did! This information helped us sort out what we wanted, talk about what we thought was fair, and consider different options. It wasn't easy, but we are still talking."

"This no-nonsense workbook lovingly asks us to face the inevitable, and helps us get through the emotions, the memories, and the practicalities of distributing the collected stuff of a lifetime."

Available Who Gets Grandma's Yellow Pie Plate™ Resources

Workbook: Worksheets and tools to help address six critical decision making factors. $12.50 or $7.50 for 25+ copies (108 pages; booklet or interactive CD)

DVD: Introduction to the issues and six critical factors. $30 (13 minutes)

Workshop Facilitator's Toolkit: Package of resources to facilitate workshops for family members and professionals. Includes the workbook and DVD (see below), as well as CD of teaching resources (presentation, teaching tips, research summary, and more). $75

To order materials visit us at www.yellowpieplate.umn.edu or call 612-625-6000. Samples are available online.

For customizable training or more information, visit us at www.yellowpieplate.umn.edu or contact Marlene Stum (mstum@umn.edu; 612-625-4270).