4-H Judging at the Fair!

Please note: You will want to insert personalized pictures on each page because part of purpose of a social story is to prepare people for a situation they will encounter and this is best done through pictures of what they will actually see vs. generic pictures.
I get to bring 4-H projects to the fair.
Bringing 4-H projects is lot of fun!
When I first get to the fair, I will help carry my 4-H projects from the car to the 4-H Building. There are lots of kids bringing their projects to the fair. This makes the 4-H building loud, hot, and crowded, but it is also fun! If I need to take a break during judging, I just need to let my parents know and we will go someplace quieter for a little bit and come back to finish judging when I am ready.
The first thing I will do in the 4-H Building is check in with 4-H staff to get my envelope for judging. I will take this envelope with when I go talk to my judges. The 4-H staff puts a bracelet on my wrist. This bracelet gets me into the fair to see my projects. The bracelet will be put on my wrist just right, not too tight and not too loose. I will tell the 4-H staff when it is perfect. 4-H staff are nice and want to help me!
I take my envelope with cards and get in line to wait for judging. When it is my turn, I sit down at the table with my judge. Judges are happy to talk to me and friendly. Sometimes there may be another person at the table to help the judge. After I sit down, I find my project card in my envelope, give it to my judge, tell the judge my name, and wait for them to ask me questions.
When judges ask me questions, I try my hardest to answer them. I tell the judge what I know about my project the best I can. When the judge is all done asking me questions, they will give me a ribbon. This means that I did a good job. I tell them thank you, leave my project, and go find my next judge.
I complete judging for all my projects by waiting in line until it is my turn and then sitting down with the judge. I tell each judge my name and answer questions. Then, after leaving all of my projects, I will go home in the car.
I will get to come back to the fair later to see my projects in the 4-H building. It will have a sticker on the card that shows everyone how I did. Lots of friends and family will come see my project too. Everyone will be so proud of how hard I worked on my project.
After the fair, I get to take my project home. By bringing my project to the fair, I learned so much. 4-H at the fair is so much fun and I can’t wait until next year!
